

LOCKED OUT OF BEDROOM IF SHE GETS HOME LATE

Mrs. Eiseman Says That's the Treatment Her Husband Gives Her.

A CHAMPION BOWLER.

There All the Trouble Lies, Says Mr. Eiseman—Alleys Fascinate Her.

The woes of a woman champion bowler and of a woman champion bowler's husband were presented in affidavit form to Supreme Court Justice Thomas in Brooklyn today when Mrs. Lydia H. Eiseman, of No. 84 Lafayette avenue, began suit for separation from her husband, Peter J., a wealthy real estate operator.

Though the suit is under way in the full blast of charge and counter charge the Eisemans still share the same roof, dine vis-a-vis at the same table, and—

but the sharing stops at the board and roof. In fact, the plaintiff in this suit declares that her husband locks her out of the family bedroom and causes her to sleep on the floor. Once, she swears, he locked her out of the house. His language to her at table, another charge, is not fit to reproduce even in affidavit form.

Mr. Eiseman, answering, says that it is true he locks his wife out of the family bedroom, but that it is her own fault. He long ago offered her the alternative of coming home early from her bowling tournaments or being locked out of her room. When she does not get home by 11 P. M. he locks her out. It is not necessary for her to sleep on the floor, he goes on, as she may rest on a couch. She elects the floor out of pure sulksiness.

The defendant asserts that when he married his wife in June, 1896, he was very proud of her prowess as a bowler. It swelled him with pride to have her bring home medals, cups and banners, testifying to her skill on the alleys. As time wore on, however, he requested her to cut out some of the tournaments and matches. They not only occurred in the day time but ran along into the night.

The husband says that often his wife would leave her home at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and not return until midnight. This angered him, as he often found no dinner upon his homecoming and scarcely ever found a wife to greet him. Argument availed him nothing, so he set a time limit on Mrs. Eiseman's homecoming. When she ran over this she was barred from the bedroom.

The Eisemans have one child, Lydia, nine years old. There are also two children of Mr. Eiseman by a former wife. Mrs. Eiseman, in her application for alimony and counsel fees declared to Justice Thomas that, notwithstanding the suit now under way, she was forced to live under the same roof with her husband and his children and to support more than $10,000 a year, and she prayed the court to grant her liberal alimony.

The court did not see the necessity of alimony under the circumstances and allowed Mrs. Eiseman only $35 counsel fees.

SPECIAL MATINEE FOR BIDE-A-WEES.

Katherine Grey Will Give a Performance of "The Reckoning" To-Morrow.

How Wow! Great excitement at Bide-a-Wee Home for Animals at No. 146 West Thirty-eighth street.

Triddle-winks, the mascot, told the good news to Fowler, who had just been brought in dispirited and weary. It was that Miss Katherine Grey, the actress, and her manager, Robert Hunter, had donated a special matinee of "The Reckoning" to help raise funds for the dogs. The matinee will be given at Berkeley Lyceum Theatre to-morrow afternoon, Mrs. Harry Ulysses Kibbe, the President, has urged all the members and patrons to attend.

The Bide-a-Wee home has rescued many dogs and cats from injury, persecution and starvation in the streets, and has secured homes for them with kind masters. Injured animals whose hurts are incurable are mercifully chloroformed. During the past year Bide-a-Wee found homes for 1,336 dogs and 85 cats. A total of 2,221 animals was received at the home during the past year. All those placed in homes have given a good account of themselves and not an animal has been returned nor were any taken away from new masters because of cruelty.

FUSE BLEW OUT AND FRIGHTENED CROWD

A Twenty Minutes' Blockade at the Bridge Subway Station Followed.

With a report like a musket shot the fuse in the last car of a local Subway train blew out today just as it drew up on the north bound track at the Brooklyn Bridge station. The platform was thronged with waiting passengers. As smoke poured from under the car everybody made a rush to get out of the station. For a minute it looked as if a panic could not be averted. But the power was turned off and as the danger of fire passed the guards and station men soon reassured the passengers.

The accident caused a blockade on the local tracks that continued from 10 to 10:30 A. M. and in that time the platform became jammed with the augmenting throng. Passengers poured in by the hundreds from the bridge and other hundreds from the street. A squad of policemen were hurried into the station from the City Hall to preserve order.

A ten-minute blockade of the north-bound express trains was also caused. Just after an express had been loaded to the doors with passengers the power was shut off and the train was left in darkness. The guards were ordered to keep the doors shut so that the passengers could not escape and add to the excitement. The disabled car was backed into the City Hall station switch and cut off before traffic could be resumed.

LEFT ALONE, WOMAN IN AGONY KILLS HERSELF.

Mother of Seven Takes Advantage of Few Minutes' Solitude to Inhale Gas.

Mrs. Annie Striban, of No. 41 East Seventy-sixth street, has suffered from cancer for years and has frequently expressed her desire to die. Her married daughter, Mrs. Annie Karinek, with whom she lived, and her husband, Frank Karinek, have never let Mrs. Striban out of their sight for the past two years, fearing she would harm herself. The first break in the Karinek's constant watch was to-day. Frank Karinek came home sick, and while his wife was out he decided to take a turn about the block in the fresh air.

Mrs. Striban was left alone for the first time in two years. When Karinek came back into the house he smelled gas, and going to the kitchen he found the body of Mrs. Striban lying across the stationary tub, a gas tube clamped in her mouth connecting with the opened gas fixture. She was dead. Mrs. Striban left four daughters and three sons, all married.

Itching Scalp, Dandruff and Falling Hair. These symptoms indicate a diseased condition of the scalp and always result in baldness if the condition is not corrected.

The hair can always be saved if proper treatment is administered in time, but after the hair roots are dead renewed growth is impossible. Don't delay until the hair is all gone, for nothing will grow hair on a shiny bald head.

At the Woodbury Institute treatment is given under direct instructions of a specialist of long experience. Many thousands of cures are treated every year, and success is assured in every case.

Irish Linen Handkerchiefs at 12 1/2c

1050 dozens of Men's and Women's Irish linen Handkerchiefs will be on sale tomorrow morning at this remarkably low price. They are worth 20c to 75c, but slight imperfections, such as a thick thread or a dropped stitch, have lowered the price. The last offering of this character that we made, only lasted one day. None but an expert can detect the imperfections, and they do not affect the wearing qualities of the goods at all. 12 1/2c each, worth 20c to 75c.

White Satin Damask Napkins

At $2.85 a Dozen

Another remarkable offering for tomorrow morning. One hundred dozens of 23-inch snow-white satin damask Napkins in five beautiful designs at this little price. Ribbon and pansy, fleur de lis, lily of the valley, tulip and vine and wild rose and stripe designs. A good $3.50 value at $2.85 a dozen.

Oyster White Irish Linens

At 25c a Yard

36-inch fine quality Irish linen, oyster white and suitable for dresses, at 25c a yard, instead of 60c. A few spots received in the process of finishing, which will wash out, explain the lowered price. A 60c quality for 25c a yard.
